Home Medical Equipment and Respiratory Services to Manage Your Health in the Comfort of Your Own Home

When you or your family need respiratory care services and medical equipment at home, you can turn to one company – St. John Medical Equipment Service, your single source respiratory care provider.

We provide home respiratory patients with everything they need for successful treatment and recovery. Our patient service technicians, specially trained respiratory therapists, registered dietitians, pharmacists, and registered nurses, oversee the patient's care and the delivery of a full range of respiratory services and home medical equipment.

Supplemental Oxygen

St. John Medical Equipment Service provides patients with the most appropriate supplemental oxygen delivery systems based on needs. We utilize oxygen concentrators, liquid, and/or cylinder systems. Additionally, we carry the latest technology in lightweight portable oxygen systems and conserving devices, providing a more active lifestyle and freedom from bulky, heavy portable systems.

Nebulizers and Respiratory Medications

When an aerosolized medication and nebulizer is needed, St. John Medical Equipment Service furnishes reliable equipment and patient instruction.

Continuous Positive Airway Pressure (CPAP)

Patients who suffer from obstructive sleep apnea rely on St. John Medical Equipment Service to provide state-of-the-art equipment, supplies, and therapeutic services as ordered by the physician and required by the patient.

Ventilators

Whether a patient requires long-term continuous ventilation or intermittent nocturnal ventilation, St. John Medical Equipment Service combines the appropriate equipment and related supplies with thorough patient and caregiver education to meet the therapeutic and clinical needs of the patient in the home environment.

Apnea Monitors

Working with the physician, St. John Medical Equipment Service will instruct caregivers on the proper use of the monitor and any other therapies or equipment that may be needed such as supplemental oxygen, suctioning, or pulse oximetry.

Enteral Therapy

Our highly trained enteral customer service team is dedicated exclusively to enteral care patients and customers, with expertise in nutrition risk identification, insurance coverage guidelines, verification, billing, and the efficient coordination of clinical services and patient delivery. All new patients receive a comprehensive nutrition screening to identify any potential risks that might require further attention, and to establish a baseline for monitoring each patient's response to therapy.

Support Services

In addition to respiratory equipment and medications, St. John Medical Equipment Service provides a myriad of related services. Innovative acuity programs ensure appropriate, consistent care based on the patient's condition. Detailed education builds confidence in patients and caregivers and minimizes subsequent interventions. Psychosocial support aids in addressing issues associated with chronic diseases such as COPD and Asthma. Traveling with oxygen program allows patients to travel and maintain an independent lifestyle without interrupting therapy. Insurance expertise maximizes a patient's Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, or managed care benefits. Comprehensive clinical programs for patients with Asthma, Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease, Cystic Fibrosis, Obstructive Sleep Apnea, feature tailored care plans to optimize patient outcomes.

Caring for Patients

St. John Medical Equipment service provides all of the equipment, services, supplies, and support that respiratory and home medical equipment patients require. The result is care that is conveniently delivered and uncompromising in quality. It is care you can rely on 24-hours a day, 365 days a year.
