Addiction Treatment: Moving the Field Forward

October 13–14, 2016
Program Overview
This two-day conference coordinated by Brighton Center for Recovery will update healthcare providers and the community on new developments, advancements, and onward progress in addiction treatment presented by regional and national experts. It will provide a broad spectrum of topics related to addiction and treatment.

Program Objectives
1) To identify ways to use data and data analytics to improve outcomes and care
2) To increase participants’ awareness, knowledge, and skills, related to advancements, holistic treatments and technologies in substance abuse and treatment
3) To focus on evidence-based, best and promising practices in the field
4) To spotlight programs highlighted in chemical dependency treatment
5) To increase unified advocacy in the field of addiction treatment

Who Should Attend?
This conference will benefit social workers, counselors, educators, nurses, addictionologist, psychologists, probation officers, EAPS, psychiatrists, physicians, administrators, community coalitions, other clinicians and general public interested in addiction.
